Editorial

July and August—long, hot sunshine days. Last year too hot and for too long if truth be told. Our gardens and the farmers' fields ended up parched and desperate for water. I am hoping that this summer we will still have some lovely sunshine, a little less heat and some good overnight rain at just the right time. That way we will all enjoy our gardens without resorting to hosepipes to keep them alive and our farmers will enjoy a good harvest.

Actually, I'm really looking forward to July this year. Our oldest son is getting married and our families will be gathering to celebrate with him and his Sikh fiancée. A joyful coming together of two families, two faiths, two cultures. What could be better?

Fortunately, I am not responsible for the angst of planning the event though I am responsible for presiding at some of it. And my worry of what to wear as mother of the groom was solved by a shopping trip with the mother of the bride. Watch this space as I may just write something about the wedding again in September's edition.

I wonder what these months will bring for you? If you are short of things to do then there is plenty on offer in this edition of Contact: there are two art exhibitions; many cups of coffee and strawberry tea; Brass on the Grass; a concert; a trip down memory lane and much more.

Maybe I'll see you at one of them.

The Transformation from Servants to Friends

“This is my commandment: love one another, as I have loved you. A man can have no greater love than to lay down his life for his friends. You are my friends, if you do what I command you. I shall not call you servants anymore, because a servant does not know his master’s business; I call you friends, because I have made known to you everything I have learnt from my father.” (John 15:12-15)

This change in relationship from servants to friends, however, doesn’t just imply a change in how God relates to us—allowing us who were once mere servants to at last become witnesses to His previously hidden mysterious workings—it also requires a change in the way that we relate to God, permitting us now to respond in an appropriate way to that great privilege of being raised to the honour of co-heirs with His Son, with whom we are now considered to share in friendship.

A servant, for example, certainly does what they have been asked to do, and no doubt they do it diligently, but nonetheless, they do what they have been asked to do for no other reason than because they have been asked to do it, for that is the nature of the relationship between a servant and their master.

But a friend on the other hand, a friend does what has been asked of them, not simply because they have been asked and feel compelled in some way to respond positively, but because, and even without any sense of obligation, there still remains the desire to serve the other—and for no other reason than for friendship’s sake, for no other reason than because being a friend means being also one who seeks to serve, in whatever way we can, those with whom we share friendship.

So whereas in the past, those in the pre-Christian era who knew of God’s commands would obey them for no other reason than because a good servant obeys their master, and possibly also to avoid punishment, those in the post-Christian era and who likewise know God’s commands, obey them not because a master has given an order, but because a friend has asked—and not just any friend, but one who has himself shown us the full extent to which a true friend is willing to serve those he loves, even to the point of laying “down his life for his friends.”

Worship in the Chet Valley

You are welcome to join us at any of our services.

Holy Communion is celebrated every Sunday at one or other of the Chet Valley Churches, either Book of Common Prayer or Common Worship, with an informal Holy Communion service once a month in Chedgrave.

Services of Morning Worship are held in Loddon and Hardley.

Xpressions Café is on the first Sunday every month at All Saints, Chedgrave. This is a relaxed and contemporary way of 'doing church'. Open between 10am and 12 noon, you can come and go as you please for coffee, cake, discussion, crafts, games, stories, reflection and much more.

All Together Worship is on the third Sunday every month at All Saints, Chedgrave (January, March, June and September have a later start and are followed by shared lunch).

All Together Worship is designed to be as inclusive as possible: a mixture of formality and informality; traditional and modern; activity and stillness. In short, we will attempt to provide a service which will have points of connection for children and adults—indeed people of all ages and all backgrounds.

Last Sunday Praise is held on the last Sunday of the month at St John's: a chance to sing old and new Christian songs and worship together.

Xtra! is an exciting, informal service every Thursday after school in St John's Church. Refreshments from 3.15pm, service starts ~3.45pm. Open to all; particularly suited to children and young people.

In Loddon and Chedgrave there is an opportunity to enjoy a chat over refreshments after the service.

There are toilets and baby-changing facilities at All Saints, Chedgrave and St John's, Loddon.

Families are welcome at all of our services but are particularly catered for on the 1st and 3rd Sunday of the month in Chedgrave.

Home Communion: If you would like home communion, because you are unable for any reason to get to a Sunday service, please contact the clergy or the Church Office and we will arrange for someone to bring communion to you.

Times and details of the services can be found in the centre pages of the magazine.

Thanksgivings & Baptisms

You are welcome to request thanksgiving and baptism for your children.

Thanksgiving Services may be held at any time in the churches by arrangement with the clergy. They are an opportunity to give thanks for the gift of a new child and to celebrate this with family and friends in the presence of God.

Baptisms are usually held within the Sunday worship in our churches. They are an opportunity to acknowledge and celebrate the new life we have in Jesus and to welcome a child into God's family, the Church.

Please contact Rev Alison Ball on 01508 528126
ball880am@btinternet.com or the Church Office on 01508 521179

Small Groups

Some of us like to meet during the week in small groups where we can enjoy each others' company, study the Bible together and pray for one another and for others.

Those who attend find their small group a real help and support.

If you would like to join one, or just to know more, please contact David Owen or the Church Office.

Monday Mardles

If you like a relaxed and informal chat with others or are looking to meet some new friends, join us at a Monday Mardles for refreshments and to swap books at Chedgrave Church Rooms.

Mardles are held every Monday 10am-12pm. Come and go as you choose. On average there are about 17 people who come to Mardles, and there's room for more! You will be made very welcome.

News from Hobart High School

It has been a really exciting few months for Hobart High School and for Clarion Academy Trust. Pakefield High School joined the Trust at the start of April, giving us far greater opportunities for our students, staff and communities. We look forward to taking advantage of these over the coming months and years.

From September, Mr Adams will be taking on the role of Trust CEO. He will remain based at Hobart and will have regular oversight of the school. Having attracted a really strong field of senior leaders we were successful in recruiting Mr Ross LiRocchi as the new Head of School. He is a very experienced and successful leader and we look forward to working with him.

Our GCSE Art Exhibition was a real triumph for our talented and hard-working artists. The quality and range of artwork was quite breath-taking. Many thanks to those members of the community who came to see for themselves.

In May, we hosted 'The Human Library' Charity. This is an organised programme aimed at breaking down preconceptions and prejudices. People who have come up against prejudice in one way, shape or form, met with our students to share their experiences. This was a really powerful and important experience for those who participated.

In June, our annual history trip took place. A group of year 8 students visited the battlefields of Belgium. It was an opportunity for them to see something of what it must have been like for the brave men and women of our armed forces during the First World War. Every year, the students talk about what an interesting and moving experience it is.

The school has also continued its tradition of sporting excellence. Some fantastic individual and team performances including our Under 14s girls who won the South Norfolk Netball League. Isabel Lincoln has been participating in an international ski competition since January. She has been part of the TXC team representing England, competing against seven other countries. Her team finished 4th. She also finished 2nd in her age category in the 'Brits' competition. Well done, everyone!

I would like to take the opportunity to wish all those at Hobart and those in our community an enjoyable and restful summer.

Hardley Windmill

This year is the 145th birthday of the mill. Built in 1874 to drain the farm land around Hardley and Langley, it was damaged in 1950, though it helped with the floods in 1953.

In 1991 Peter Grix took up the challenge to restore the mill to working order and in 2009 the sails turned for the first time. By 2013 the inside was complete, a visitor centre added and a pontoon to moor boats. The mill was able to pump water again under sail power for the first time in over 70 years. It is the only functioning mill on the on the south bank of the river Yare and is open or being maintained most days of the week except Wednesday.

The Friends of Hardley Windmill are there most weekends taking the public on tours of the mill as well as preparing refreshments. Unfortunately, although not as old as the mill itself, the volunteers are also in need of maintenance so we are looking for more people to join in the engineering side as well as both guides and those who provide refreshments.

If you could spare one day a month or so please contact Frances Kirkpatrick on 01508 520331. It would be a shame to let this valuable piece of history, which is on our doorstep, become neglected.

THE SISLAND CHRONICLE

The Spring has been one of the most frustrating that I can remember, and Summer took a long time to make its mind up—but when it did we had the most lush growth for years. At 7.49am on 19th May we were serenaded by a cuckoo in our spinney, a happening that is all too rare these days. Sadly they have to run the gauntlet of guns around the Mediterranean, particularly in Cyprus and Italy, where any bird seems fair game for this sad practice. In this country we have just been banned from shooting wood pigeons—who eat our crops—and make good eating. It's a mad world! P.S The cuckoo was still around on the 22nd.

Whilst searching my desk—yes it's like that!—I came across a fragment of a thank-you letter stuck in the back of one of the drawers, from a pupil at Loddon secondary school sometime in the 1980s. We then lived at the north end of Loddon Parish on Hales Green, and used to show parties of school children around our house.

On this occasion, when in the barn, where we stored pots and compost for the Nursery, a young rat broke cover, hotly pursued by our Jack Russel, Fred 2, amid cheers and shrieks from the children. The rat was duly despatched and triumphantly thrown up in the air! History was forgotten—this was real life—and made their day; the barn suddenly coming alive with chattering children. Were you there?

SISLANDA

Hi, Freddie here.

One of my favourite toys is a green plastic bottle, which J. has 'dry ginger' in. If I'm lucky there's a drop left—I quite like spicy things! Bottles make a lot of noise when I bite them, but I have to be careful if the 'box' is on and T. is watching, he's got quite a loud growl! We have lots of birds in our garden, which I'm not supposed to chase, except for the pigeons, which eat his peas; they nest all over the place which annoys him.

I sometimes meet a hedgehog in the garden looking for his supper. They are covered in prickles and live in the bottom of our hedge where there are lots of leaves; Ian doesn't use his strimmer there in case he hurts one. T. put his back out in May, and we didn't go on any walks for ages, but he's alright now, but I wish he wouldn't decide to put letters in the hole in Farmer John's wall when it's raining, I get soaked! Cheers. F.

PS. I've got another new collar.

A BIG THANK YOU from Sheila Orpet:

For cards, messages, visitors and most of all your prayers following my recent stroke. I am pleased to say I am making good progress, albeit slowly.

My very grateful thanks to you all. God Bless you all. Sheila.

News From Your New South Norfolk District Councillor

I'd like to start this column by congratulating Kay Mason Billig who, like me, was elected to represent the Loddon and Chedgrave ward. I would also like to pass on my best wishes to Dr Kemp, who I know has been a loyal servant to South Norfolk District Council, as well as to the other candidates who stood. I felt that the campaign was a very positive one. I think we showed that people from different political backgrounds can still get on, disagree without falling out, and work together to get things done.

Since being elected I have been to induction sessions for new Councillors at the South Norfolk offices in Long Stratton, as well as attending my first meeting. To be honest, it was like the first day at school, but everyone has been very welcoming, and there is clearly a lot to be proud of in the way that South Norfolk is run.

In our community I have been in touch about supporting local football clubs, and enjoyed a cup of coffee at Davy Place with the amazing local residents, with whom I'm looking forward to working more closely. I have been to my first meeting of Chedgrave Parish Council, and will be regularly attending their meetings, as well as those of Loddon and Hales and Heckingham, which I'm looking forward to.

As a District Councillor I have an annual budget of £1,000 to spend on local projects. If your project is looking for funding, please get in touch. There is also the Community Action Fund for community initiatives requiring larger amounts of funding. I am responsible for receiving, considering and proposing applications for such funding (between £1,000 and £15,000; closing date 20th August 2019).

Finally, there are the 'Go For It' grants: There is up to £300 waiting to help you get an idea up and running in your local community. These grants give funding for not-for-profit projects bringing communities together and encouraging people to take part. Please contact Julie Ringer in the Communities team at South Norfolk Council on 01508 533642

There are three ways in which I can be contacted: by ringing me on 07932 70718; emailing me at jrowe@s-norfolk.gov.uk or at my regular surgeries:

Saturday 29th June 10am to 12 at All Saints Church Centre, Chedgrave

Saturday 20th July at Spoon Cake cafe 10am to 12.

If you contact me, I guarantee that I'll get back in touch within 48 hours.

I cannot sign off without thanking voters for putting their trust in me to serve them. I really enjoyed meeting so many of the people who live in our wonderful area, and would also like to thank everyone for how polite and welcoming they were across the hundreds, in fact well over a thousand, doors we knocked on.

Jeremy Rowe—Councillor for Loddon and Chedgrave.

Holy Trinity Bell Ringers

As well as here at Loddon, the ringers have been out and about ringing Quarter Peals at other churches too. Bourne and Cambridge Surprise Minor have been rung at Loddon; Plain Bob Triples at Brooke; Turramurra and Kenninghall Surprise Major and Grandsire Cinques at St. Peter Mancroft in Norwich; Quornden Surprise Major at North Lopham and Double Court Bob Triples at Diss.

We have supported practices held at Beccles, Bungay and St. Peter Mancroft. The band at Loddon rang for the Archdeacon’s visitation on Sunday 19th May. A Peal was rung at Norton Subcourse on Saturday 25th May. The 5040 changes of Seven Surprise Minor methods took 2 hours and 43 minutes to complete.

We helped out at Oulton for a training day on Saturday 1st June. A Quarterly meeting of the Eastern Branch was held at Blofield on Saturday 8th June. Ringing took place on the eight bells before a service and meeting in the church.

Maggie’s Place

Maggie’s Place is progressing well and the vegetables are starting to grow. I had my first, small but tasty, broad bean crop this week, but I have yet to reach my target audience.

If anyone knows of any carers that are looking for a break please let them know about Maggie’s Place. If

Saturday afternoons don’t work I am happy to discuss other options. Also if you would like to help out please email me: outlawanna75@yahoo.co.uk

Wanted

Unwanted/second-hand garden benches

If you have an old bench at the bottom of the garden or behind the shed that is never used would you like to pass it on to be used elsewhere locally?

We want to put benches in the new Maggie’s Place allotment and if we get several perhaps elsewhere too, to be used by whoever is passing.

We can collect, carry out repairs if needed and relocate when ready to use.

Contact Roger Outlaw, Tel. 528710 or via the Contact email address.

Bishop's Pilgrimage—Tuesday 2nd July

Prayers Please

On Tuesday 2nd July Bishop Jonathan, the Bishop of Lynn, will be making a prayer pilgrimage through Loddon Deanery, starting with breakfast at about 9am in Stoke Holy Cross and continuing via Poringland Community Centre to Green Pastures cafe and hopefully then by bus (the X22) to Chedgrave and Loddon.

Bishop Jonathan will be arriving at The White Horse Pub in Chedgrave at about 11.50 am and walking from there to the Junior School; why not greet him and walk with him? He will join Lunch Club (at Loddon Junior School) and go on to Clinks Care Farm and the Waveney River Centre in the afternoon. The aim of the pilgrimage is to pray along the way for this area, to join with those who can be with him and to hand out prayer leaflets based on the Lord's Prayer.

In the evening there will be a service of prayer for all parishes of the deanery, at 7pm in Holy Trinity, Loddon where we are invited to bring something that represents the parish where we regularly worship.

Eco Café

The world is in a mess! There seems to be little doubt about it. But what should we do? There is so much information out there it is hard to sort out. Should I be vegetarian – maybe but I don't know any recipes. Should I buy an electric car – maybe but I don't know anyone who drives one or have any information about it. Should I stop using bags to buy things in – maybe but where is the nearest zero waste shop. Should I stop wearing clothes with plastic in them – I didn't even realise I was!

If you are confused and would like to explore the options a bit more, why don't you come along to the Eco Café on Sunday 4th August at Chedgrave Church? From 10 am onwards there is a chance to talk to people, look at the exhibitions, take part in our give-and-take clothing exchange and discuss what you might do to play your part in improving our environment. There will be free refreshments available all morning and at 11.30 am there will be vegetarian and vegan food to try together with their recipes. If people want, we will carry on into lunch time.

See you there!

Give and Take Clothing—New Clothes for Old

Summer is here and you may be looking to your old wardrobe thinking, perhaps, it is a bit tired and could do with a change. If that's you, why not swap your unwanted clothes for something that someone else has tired of but which still has plenty of life in it? Good for the planet and good for your pocket!

The Give and Take Clothing Exchange will be in operation for one day only on 4th August at Xpressions Café in Chedgrave Church Centre. Bring your unwanted clothes (good quality only) to Chedgrave Church Centre on Sunday 4th August to be hung on a rail for opening time at 10am.

See what you might take home in exchange to refresh your wardrobe.

Pet Service: Sunday 18th August at 9.30am

On Sunday 18th August we will be holding a Pet Service in in the Pits, Chedgrave.

“What’s that?” someone asked me.

It’s a chance for us to acknowledge the place of pets in our lives: companions, friends, helpers. Some take us out to exercise, some greet us when we come home, some allow us to stroke them.

They listen when we tell them things, some judge our mood quite accurately, they allow us to take care of them. And they are a diverse bunch—revealing something of the amazing and wonderful variety in God’s creation.

So, you are invited to bring your pet along with you on Sunday 18th August as we celebrate these much-loved creatures—I wonder what the most unusual one will be.

Of course, you are responsible at all times for the behaviour of your pet.

I look forward to seeing you and your animals there.

Rev Alison.

Now that the better weather is approaching and the garden and the countryside beckon do consider joining the Gym. Strengthening the muscles that support the skeleton helps alleviate the aches and pains we all feel as we get older. George is one of our older members and he writes:

"The fitness programme designed for me, a 93 year old widower, by Louise, is a personal challenge but very worthwhile. My muscle strength and mobility have benefitted and the chats with other members add to the feeling of wellbeing."

As the Gym opening times are restricted, most of the members are older but anyone over 16 is welcome to join and have programmes designed especially for them. If you would like to find out more please contact Louise on 07534 946143 or visit our website www.loddoncommunitygym.com

Mondays: 1.30pm - 6pm, Tuesdays: 4.30pm - 8.30pm, Fridays: 10am - 1pm.

The Club was founded well over 100 years ago and is looking to expand its membership. The Green, which is probably the best in South Norfolk, is a pleasure to play on and is much admired by opposing teams and visitors alike. It is situated behind The Swan with signed access from the car park.

The Green reopened on Saturday 13th April and afternoon sessions will be on Monday, Wednesday & Friday afternoons from 2pm to 5pm for practice and pleasure. In addition the Green can be opened on Saturday mornings from 9.30am to 12.30pm if required. Please phone Mike on 01508 521049 for details.

Royal British Legion–Loddon & District Branch

We are pleased to report that the branch continues to be well represented locally, and the May National Arboretum visit went well. Apart from our Loddon Monte Cassino veteran, Charlie Coleman, we also were proud to include a veteran from King's Lynn, Cyril Route.

Did you know that, under the Armed Forces Military Covenant agreed by the government, the NHS is obligated to treat anyone who has ever served in the armed forces with special consideration, no matter how long ago or how recent that service was, or indeed where it was, male or female.

The view now is that any military service could have a direct bearing on health in later life and this needs to be recognised. The Legion is asking that, if this applies to you, tell your health practitioner or local surgery without delay.

The next branch meetings are on Tuesdays 16th July, 20th August and 17th September, 7.30pm at the King's Head. Branch secretary Colin Hartley, 01508 521136, can be contacted for any Legion help or advice.

A Pocket Full of Posies? Surviving The Black Death the Medieval Way

More than six hundred years after the devastating natural catastrophe that became known as the Black Death occurred in England, scientific investigation into its inception still continues. New research has questioned the once accepted theory that fleas on rats were responsible for spreading the disease and it now seems likely that human lice were the more likely culprits. This has been supported by recent archaeological evidence which revealed there were simply not enough rats around during the winter period, when people were first stricken, to cause the epidemic. However, it was historical evidence and contemporary observations that Dr Joy Hawkins presented us with to consider this theory.

One example was that of Giovanni Boccaccio, in Italy. He noted how pigs sniffing the discarded clothing of plague victims also later died but there was no mention of rats. Medical men of the day, desperate to find a cure, did not mention vermin either. Despite the frightening speed at which most lives were claimed some people did survive but, of course, with no understanding of bacteria or germ theory, doctors could only look to the stars to find the cause, blaming a troublesome alignment of the planets; Mars, Jupiter and Saturn retrograde in Aquarius, either that or it was an imbalance of the humours. John of Burgundy claimed men were full of evil humours affected by sin. And according to John of Reading, wearing outlandish fashions, like those ridiculously long pointed shoes, restricted the ability to kneel properly for prayer!

Various cures were attempted, using herbs; Joy passed some around for us smell; special prayers were said; some went on pilgrimage; towns segregated those with symptoms and brought in rules to keep the streets clean; miasma or bad smells had long been associated with disease. In Norwich everyone had to clean out their pigsty on the same day of each week, in the same two hours. Tragically, so little could be done to prevent this terrible pestilence taking hold, especially when as Joy pointed out that a series of poor harvests had led to a malnourished population and migration from the countryside to the towns and a life in crowded less hygienic conditions perhaps, making them more susceptible. Maybe, it's time to reconsider our opinion on the much maligned, humble rat! As usual, Joy presented us with an excellent talk.

Patient Participation Group

Our Open Meeting on 28th May was well attended when Dr Andrew Glenn, an ophthalmologist from the Norfolk and Norwich University Hospital, came to speak on the subject of macula degeneration, a disease which affects 30 million people worldwide.

He gave a slide presentation showing the workings of the eye e.g. the macular which is the central part of the eye and the optic nerve, among other parts. He explained that there are two types of macular degeneration: dry which develops slowly, and wet which comes on rapidly causing distortions and blurring.

There are treatments available at present and new trial therapies are being researched. He then answered several questions from the audience. The Macular Society May be contacted on 0300 3030 111 or at www.macularsociety.org.

As many people are away in the months of July and August, the next Open Meeting will be September 24th, the topic of which will be announced in the September edition.

Our next presentation is: Stan & Ollie, rated PG, starring Steve Coogan and John C. Reilly.

This somewhat poignant film pays a lovely tribute to perhaps one of the greatest showbiz double-acts of all time. Set during the twilight of their career during a tour of the UK in 1953 the twosome fear what they see as an uncertain future, with Oliver's health starting to fail and the age of Music Hall beginning to wane.

The tour starts off rather on the back foot but the charm and still undoubted talents shine through and once again win over their adoring fans. Coogan and Reilly give outstanding performances that reflect the detailed research they must have done to capture so well this famous twosome.

Highly rated by critics and audiences.

Showing on Thursday 4th July , at the Lecture Hall, St John's Chapel, George Lane, Loddon. Doors open 7pm; film starts 7.30pm.

Our August film is The Green Book, rated 12. It stars Vigo Mortenson and Mahershala Ali and is directed by Peter Farrelly.

Based on a true encounter the film portrays the unlikely partnership of Tony Lip (Mortenson), a borderline "Goodfella" from New York's Italian/American community and Dr Don Shirley, a black, world-renowned pianist. Lip is given the job of driving the Doctor on a piano recital tour of America's deep south, still segregated and not the best place for a black piano player to ply his trade. The title of the film derives from the Green Book that was published to show where black visitors were permitted to stay.

It's not perfect, but audiences liked it and the blossoming relationship of this unlikely pair, given weight by superb performances, makes for an entertaining film covering a subject still raw today.

Showing on Thursday 8th August (please note that in August the film is shown on the 2nd Thursday of the month) at the Lecture Hall, St. John's Chapel, George Lane, Loddon. Doors open 7pm; film starts 7.30pm.

Tickets £4 adults £2 child. On the door or in advance from Loddon Garden & DIY.

“A book is a device to ignite the imagination.” Alan Bennett

“The Italian Wife,” by Kate Furnivall

A story set in Italy in 1832, in the time when Mussolini and his Blackshirts were running the country. A woman throws herself from a tower to her death, having first asked a complete stranger (Isabella Bernotti) to look after her daughter for a few minutes.

There is, in fact, a link between the two women, but Isabella is initially unaware of this and it isn't made clear until the end of the book. Before that, many things happen. Within this intriguing story there is romance, political skulduggery, cruelty, mystery and danger. The author writes well, but at times her descriptions of emotions are somewhat overdone! Nonetheless, it's a good story.

“All the Light We Cannot See,” by Anthony Doerr

A great many books have been written with World War 2 as the setting of the background, and this is one more—but it is from a very different perspective from usual; in this case that of two children, one German (Werner) and one French (Marie-Laure). Werner is an orphan being cared for in a Children's Home and Marie-Laure is a blind girl whose mother died when giving birth to her. She is lovingly cared for by her father.

Both children suffer in different ways and both are very clever—also in different ways. Through the eyes of these children we gain real insight into the privations suffered by those people living in occupied France and those young boys who were swallowed up by the brutality of Hitler's Nazis, and trained to be in the Hitler Youth Company. It's an extraordinarily sensitive, compassionate and intelligent narrative, and utterly engrossing.

“Major Pettigrew's Last Stand,” by Helen Siminson

From the very beginning this book is thoroughly enjoyable. A quirky opening leads on to a very modern day love story in which the protagonists are no longer in the flush of youth, and who have very different backgrounds as well as different faiths. They live in a quintessential English village in Sussex where there is the usual variety of traditions and characters, as well as elements of class, snobbery and some racism—all offset by more charitable, caring and friendly attitudes.

Helen Siminson writes well, making it easy for us to visualise all the disparate characters in her book. Major Pettigrew himself is a traditional, honourable and endearing gentleman of the old school. There is much humour and quite a bit of food for thought in this absolutely delightful story.

Nature Notes

I discovered recently that this would not be the first time my thoughts about nature have been published. In March I attended a surprise 70th birthday party for two friends and I had been asked to share some of my memories of our childhood. While researching through diaries and scrap books, I came across the following from an old school magazine from the 1950s, with all my misspelling included:

On Thursday afternoon my dady and I went along the cliffs
We watcked the men stopping the cliffs from tumbling down
We went up qurens avinu and saw a birds nest
We went a little frther and we watched the roocs biding thir nests
And one of the roocs stole one of the roocs sticks. Richard Hull (aged 6)

We live in an amazing part of the country and there are so many opportunities to connect with nature. We just need to keep our senses alert. While the car was having its MOT, I walked from Loddon Trading Estate through to Chedgrave Staithe. During this 30 minute walk I either saw or heard over 20 species of birds, including a lesser whitethroat, singing its scratchy song.

Out walking our two dogs along the banks of the Chet and the Yare on consecutive days last week, two different short eared owls were quartering across the marshes in late May, glorious. Finally hearing the pinging of bearded tit amongst the reeds, after 15 months of silence following the Beast of the East, gives that feeling that there is always hope and tomorrow is a new day.

Volunteering at Earsham Wetland Centre recently, following a barn owl with its prey and discovering that it was using one of the owl boxes there was just a thrill and a fantastic shared experience.

Yesterday, Thursday 30th May, a small group of us were continuing the survey work on Chedgrave Common for Norfolk Wildlife Trust, noting the various flora and fauna and relieved to find the orchids again this year. Watching a small copper butterfly and the first emerging banded damselflies, nature is good for health and well-being.

Yes, there are problems with the demise of many species; we miss the purring of turtle doves that we have listened to regularly over the past two years. We can't remember the last time we saw spotted flycatchers, a Summer visitor that used to nest in the village. In contrast, we regularly see a Red Kite flying over the garden. This fork tailed bird of prey would have been counted as a rarity in this county ten years ago.

So, during July and August look out of your window and see what you can see. Or even better, if the summer weather allows, get out there and enjoy. Get enthused about the variety of insects, birds, mammals and plants that are in your vicinity. Even this morning driving towards Seething there was a corn field showing red with an abundance of poppies that had emerged into flower during the last forty-eight hours. Being serenaded by the "little bit of bread and no cheese" of the yellowhammer, and watching a male marsh harrier quartering across the fields of ripening cereal crops, nature does have an amazing wow factor.

Gardening Notes

With the cooler and wetter weather we have been having lately, the gardens are looking lovely, border and container plants are flowering well, lawns are green and growing well, and vegetables are also growing away well. This is the complete opposite to last year when everything was dying off.

I think I prefer this year's weather. However, when it does warm up and dry out you will need to get into the habit of watering all containers, because they soon dry out.

In the veg garden, make sure to pick salad crops when they are young and tender as they have so much more flavour at this stage. New potatoes will be ready soon; once they have flowered give them two weeks and then check to see what size the tubers are. When you are happy with the size of the tuber then lift them as you need them.

It's a little early for potato blight, but keep a watchful eye on the plants, if you see blight the only option is to cut the stems down to ground level immediately. The last plantings of over-wintering brassicas need to be planted out by the middle of the month, any later and the plants won't have enough time to mature before the shorter day lengths.

When we get sunny days it gets very hot inside the greenhouse, and the strength of the sun can damage crops inside the greenhouse, so it's a good idea to coat the inside of the glass with greenhouse whitener. This keeps most of the sun's rays off the plants and keeps the greenhouse cooler. As long as the plants are watered and fed regularly then they will grow well and produce a heavy crop.

Make sure to pick tomatoes and cucumbers when they are fit. Any old or rotting fruit should be thrown onto the compost heap to prevent disease from spreading to all the plants in the greenhouse.

Lawns are looking quite good at the moment, so just keep cutting them once a week to stop the weeds from taking over.

Roses are flowering well this year, dead head them as needed, and when they finish flowering give them a feed with rose feed so they will flower even better next time.

Enjoy spending some time in your gardens in the evenings, because the days are now getting shorter. What a horrible thought!
